

Decoding Customer Behavior & Driving Insights

June ,2023

Agenda

1. Decoding customer behavior
2. Generating Value to Businesses

Understanding customer behavior

As a retailer, I would like to know...

Types of customers interested in different types of products

The basket mix of different types of customers

Which campaigns have delivered the customers and purchases

Which regions contribute the most amount of HVC sales

Time taken by customers between campaigns and making the purchases

Time for average product segment to be sold

Decode which regions contribute to the major share of HVC sales

And how much of the orders are contributed by these customers?

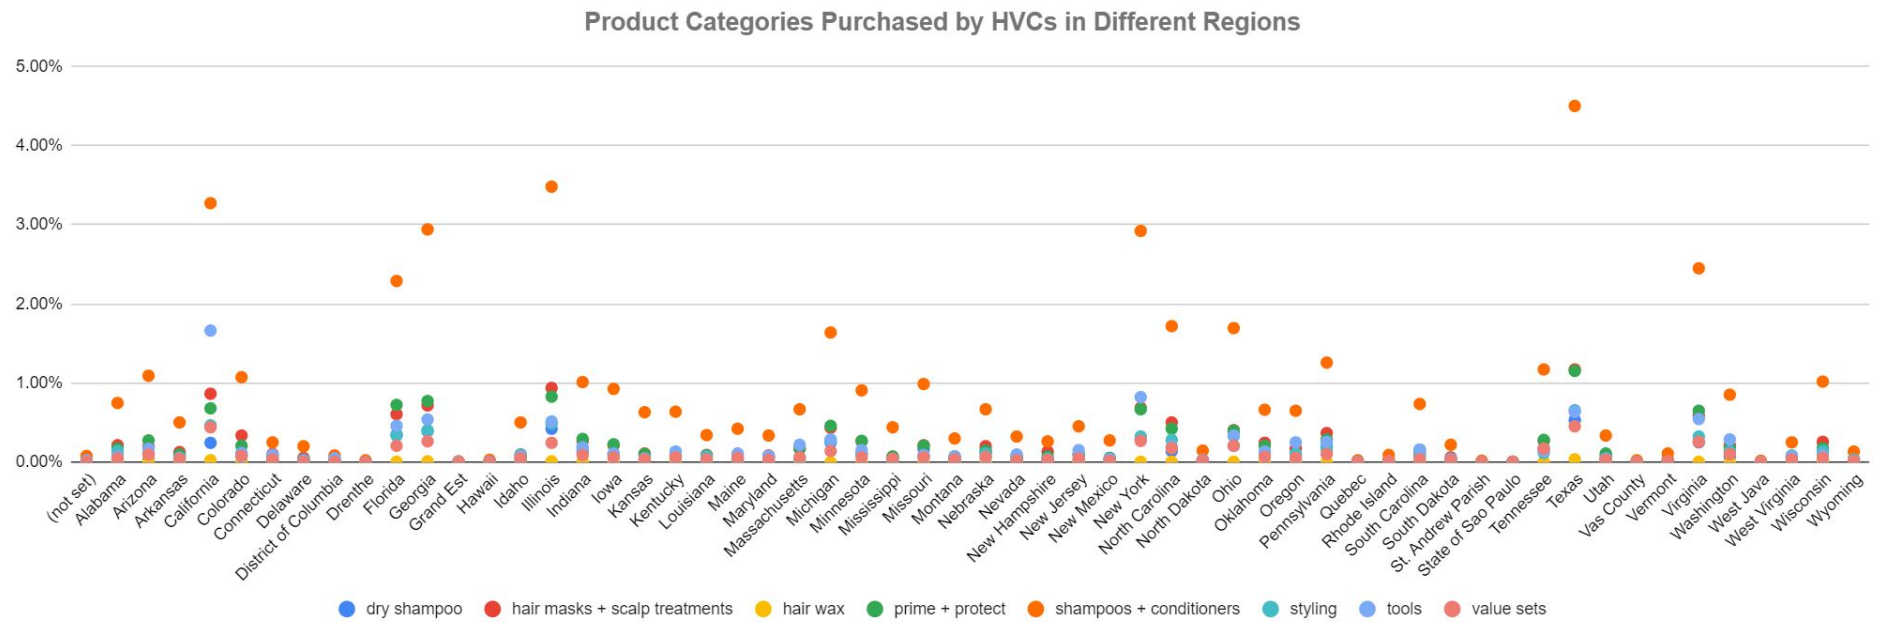

Enable organizations to identify the avg time to purchase across regions

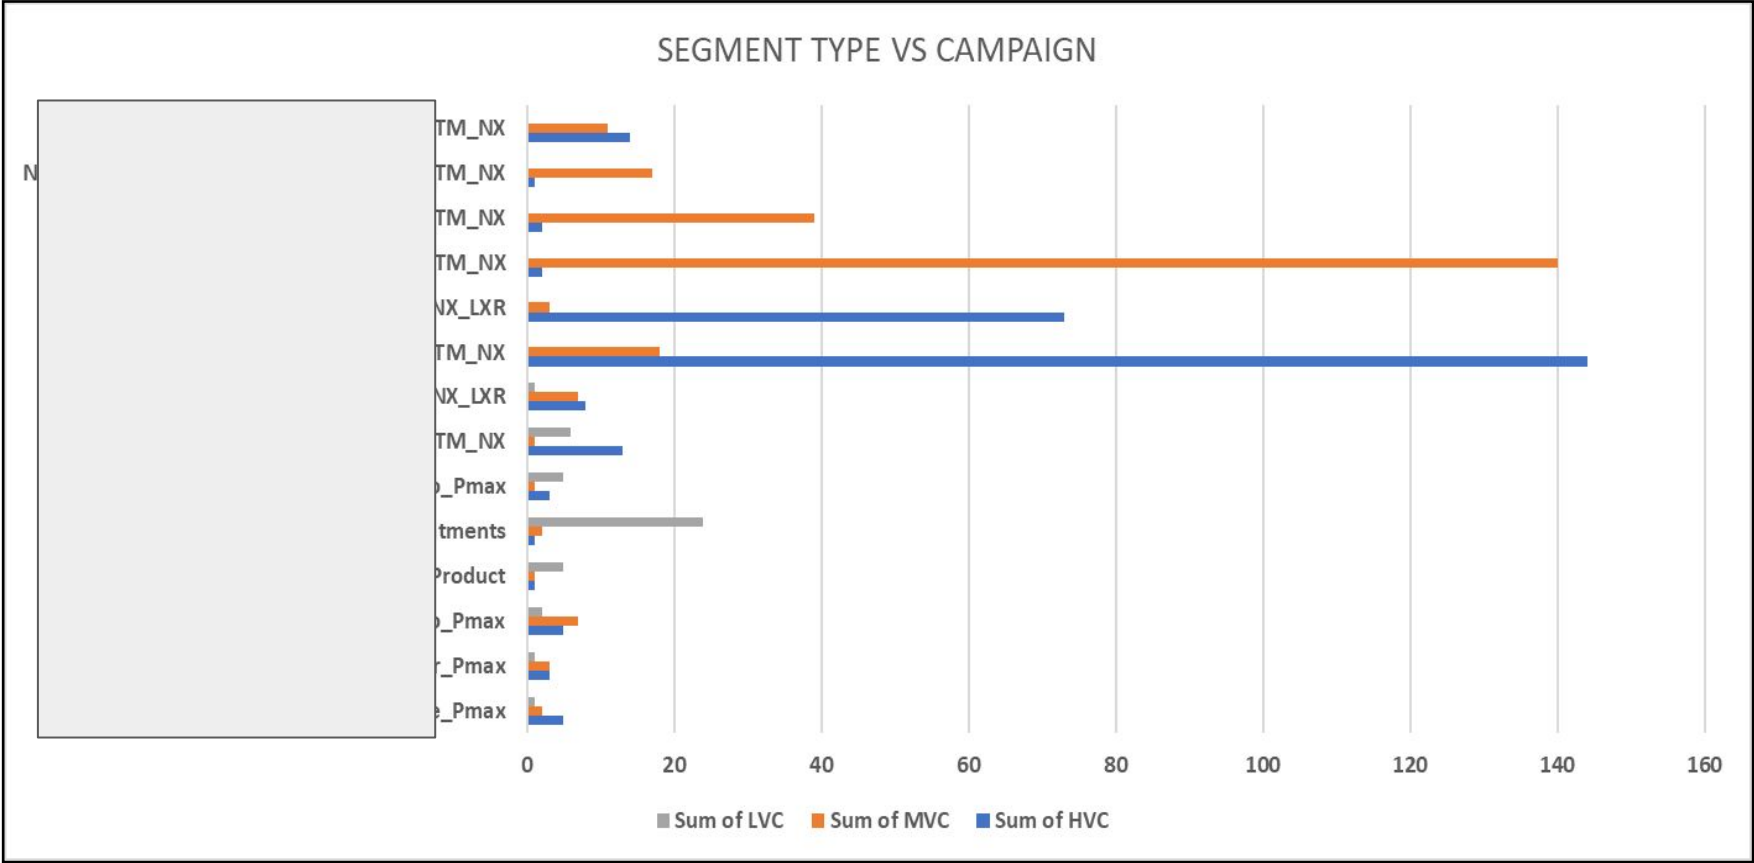

1. Considering North east is where people take more time compared to other regions, I'd like to focus on engaging these people more to the brand.
1. This helps me prioritize the budgets across regions in focusing on driving more sales from where we are lagging behind.

Decode which types of customers are interested in specific types of products

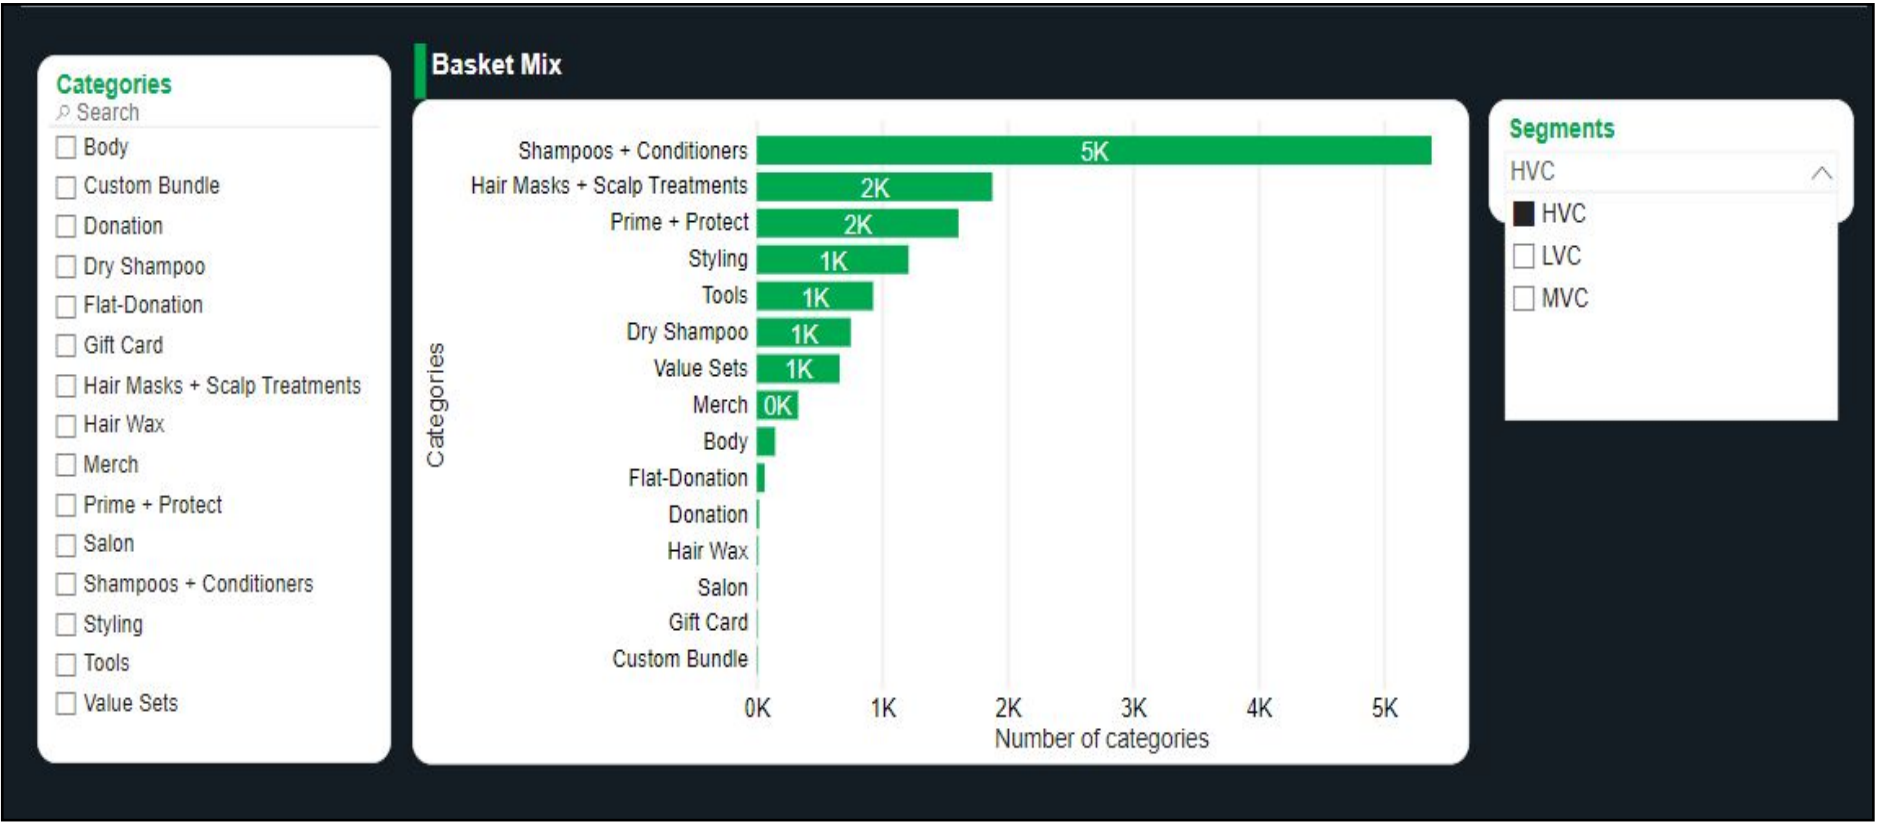

Decode which campaigns are bringing specific types of customers

Generating Value to Business

Decode the basket mix of different types of customers

Decode the avg. time taken for each product segment to be sold

